'Son Of Sam' Is Apprehended

NEW YORK (AP) — A $35 ticket for parking too near a fire hydrant led police to a reclusive postal worker they said was "Son of Sam," the night stalker who killed six young persons and wounded seven with his .44-caliber revolver.

The arrest came as David Berkowitz, 24, left his apartment house Wednesday night in suburban Yonkers and encountered police, who had staked out the building.

Police said that as Berkowitz stepped into his car, they asked him who he was, and Berkowitz replied: "I'm Son of Sam. Okay, you've got me." He offered no resistance, police said.

"We have him," a police spokesman for 1st Deputy Police Commissioner James Taylor told reporters later.

Berkowitz was formally booked today at the 84th Precinct in Brooklyn on charges of second-degree murder, attempted murder, assault and possession of a deadly weapon in the murder of Stacy Moskowitz, 20, the killer's latest victim. Her date, Robert Violante, 20, was wounded and may never see again.

Wearing wornout blue jeans, a light blue and white striped shirt and light brown suede shoes, Berkowitz smiled at reporters as a cordon of police moved him out of the precinct house and took him to a nearby criminal court for arraignment later in the day.

Police said the most serious charge was second-degree murder because New York State law permits first-degree murder charges only in cases where the death penalty is allowed, as in the slaying of a police officer.

Neighbors in Yonkers, a city of 150,000 on the northern border of New York City, described Berkowitz as "a nice guy" who kept to himself.

Police said they seized two shotguns in his seventh-floor apartment and a .44-caliber Charter Arms Bulldog revolver Berkowitz carried with him as he entered his cream-colored Ford Galaxie sedan outside his apartment house. They said he also carried a brown bag with two dozen bullets and a poem.

Ballistics tests early today confirmed the revolver was the same one which was used in the killing of Miss Moskowitz, police said.

The poem described the death of a young woman — "... And huge drops of lead poured down upon her head until she was dead ..."

Police said they found a submachine gun in a gunny sack in Berkowitz' car and also found several notes in his car and apartment, one of which warned that Son of Sam would kill again.

"I want to see the animal's face that took my baby's life," Miss Moskowitz' mother, Neysa, said today. "And I want him to see me."

A newspaper, a television station and columnist Jimmy Breslin said today that police had told them that Berkowitz, a night superintendent at a post office in the Bronx, said he planned to strike next in Suffolk County, on the far end of Long Island. They said he allegedly planned to use

Wholesale Prices Decline In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices declined for the second month in row in July as farm and processed food prices kept dropping, the Labor Department said today.

The decline of one-tenth of a per cent in the wholesale price index was not so big as the seven-tenths decrease the month before. But it marked the first two-month drop since winter, 1975.

Wholesale price changes usually show up at the consumer level eventually, but so far grocery store food prices have continued going up. They rose eight-tenths of a per cent in the latest consumer report in June.

The price of raw farm products declined in July 1.8 per cent after a 6.8 per cent decline the month before. In the last three months, farm prices have dropped 10.6 per cent, on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The wholesale index, which often provides the first indication of a change in consumer prices, dropped six-tenths of 1 per cent in June, the biggest decline in nearly four years. Prices received by farmers fell 6.3 per cent.

While farm prices can be volatile, the Agriculture Department reported in advance that farm prices fell 2 per cent from June 15 to July 15.

Wholesale price changes usually show up at the consumer level eventually, but so far grocery store food prices have continued going up. They rose eight-tenths of 1 per cent in the latest consumer report in June.

A White House spokesman said after the June wholesale report that price increases during the second half of the year are likely to be more moderate than the first half.

Marijuana Plants Found Growing Here

The Calloway County Sheriff's Office has reported discovering 43 plants of marijuana growing in the county.

Deputies said the stand of marijuana was found on the old Murray-Concord Road, east of Cherry Corner.

Warrants are being taken, but no arrests have been made at this time.

18 Hospitalized From Band Camp

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Staff Writer

A week-long band camp for Montgomery Central High School ended 24 hours early today as the 90-piece band returned back to Cunningham, Tn., after 18 band members spent the night in the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, suffering from what is now thought to be heat dehydration.

The bizarre incident unfolded about 2 p. m. Wednesday afternoon in Lovett Auditorium on the campus of Murray State University.

According to several of the band members, the group had gone through a rigorous four-hour workout between 8 a. m. and noon Wednesday. After breaking for lunch, the group arrived on the auditorium stage about 1:30 p. m. for sectional rehearsals.

Suddenly, according to one band member, "the clarinet section began dropping out like flies."

The students left the auditorium and were transported about a half-mile across the campus to Richmond Hall where they had been lodged for the camp.

Campus police were notified and ambulances came to pick up the students. Most of the students complained of having headaches, being dizzy, nauseated and some even said they were losing feeling in their fingers and hands.

A total of 17 students were immediately taken to the hospital and after being placed under oxygen, were released a few hours later. One student collapsed about 4 p. m. and was taken to the hospital.

At first, university officials were baffled and there were several different theories as to what might have caused the incident. Food poisoning was ruled out because there were two other high school groups also holding a band camp and all of the students had eaten lunch at the university cafeteria.

Some of the students said when they first entered Lovett Auditorium, there was a "cloud of smoke."

The "cloud of smoke" turned out to be concrete dust and that led university officials to the idea that fumes from a gas compressor outside the building had mixed with the concrete dust and caused the students to become ill.

The concrete was coming from beneath the auditorium where a foundation was being torn down.

Montgomery Central band director Bob Wilson said he smelled the "strong, gaseous odor" in the building. Wilson said the group had been inside for over an hour and he didn't believe the students had suffered any type of heat exhaustion.

MSU president Dr. Constantine Curris said late Wednesday afternoon that the illness was probably caused by by-products from the concrete dust and the compressor.

The situation became even more unusual at approximately 9 p. m. Wednesday night when 18 students were again taken back to the local hospital.

According to the hospital administrator, Stuart Poston, 14 of the 18 were in the group Wednesday afternoon and four of those admitted Wednesday night were in for the first time.

Late Wednesday afternoon, Poston said the symptoms seemed to be caused by carbon dioxide or carbon monoxide poisoning. But Thursday morning, Poston said doctors had diagnosed the illness as "dehydration caused by heat prostration."

University officials monitored Lovett Auditorium Wednesday and there were no gas leaks found in the building.

TO THE HOSPITAL—Fellow Montgomery Central band students carry Scott McWhorter from Richmond Hall to an awaiting car which rushed him to the emergency room at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. McWhorter was treated and released at the hospital and was not among the 18 students who returned again to the hospital for further treatment Wednesday night. Hospital doctors diagnosed the illness that sent the 18 students to the hospital as "dehydration caused from heat prostration."

Expanded Outreach Program Result Of Title VI Public Service Project

The Title VI Public Service Project funded for Calloway County from the U. S. Department of Labor has resulted in an expanded Outreach Program for the Calloway County Public Library. The project is headed locally by Don Pace who is the coordinator for participating agencies and the new employees.

Three new staff members, Mrs. Evelyn M. Cox, Mrs. Debbie Cook, and Mrs. Norma Thomas, have been employed to coordinate the library project. They are working under the direction of Mrs. Gerry Reed who has worked with Library Outreach programs prior to the new accelerated project. The new employees are receiving special training in their respective positions and will be attending an educational workshop held at Murray State University beginning in September.

"Outreach Project" will primarily provide library services to the elderly, minority groups, physically handicapped, and persons who are in the disadvantaged category. Examples of services offered are: Story Hours on a regular basis in deprived or remote areas; programs and film showings in nursing homes, hospital, and senior citizen centers; the delivery of talking books and special reading material to the blind and physically handicapped; and special aid to institutions which house underprivileged, mentally retarded or physically handicapped citizens.

"For years we have seen the need for a program that extends the services offered by the library and bookmobile. It now seems we will be able to take the library to the people in hopes that all will become more aware of what the public library can offer," said Margaret Trevathan, librarian.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

A Timely Quiz

DEAR READERS: How much do you know about homosexuality? Mark the following statements "True" or "False."

1. Homosexuals commit more crimes than straight people. (True or False?)
2. Everyone is born straight, but some become gay because they have been seduced by a gay person early in life. (True or False?)
3. You can always tell homosexuals and lesbians by the way they act, dress and talk. (True or False?)
4. If a person is gay, no amount of therapy or motivation can change him. (True or False?)
5. Boys raised by domineering mothers and weak (or absent) fathers usually turn into homosexuals. (True or False?)
6. Gay people can never become mothers or fathers. (True or False?)
7. Homosexuals are more inclined to molest children sexually than heterosexuals. (True or False?)
8. If a person has one or two sexual experiences with someone of the same sex he is gay. (True or False?)
9. The American Psychiatric Association stated that homosexuals are "sick." (True or False?)
10. Homosexuals can be legally married to each other under the law in the U.S.A. (True or False?)
11. Most homosexuals try to convert young people into becoming gay also. (True or False?)
12. Children raised by gay parents (or gay people) usually become homosexuals themselves. (True or False?)

How did you score?

If you marked all 12 statements "False," you are very well informed.

If you marked nine statements "False," you are fairly well informed.

If you marked four or more statements "True," you have a great deal to learn about homosexuality, because ALL of the above statements are FALSE!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GRIEVING STILL": The most consoling bit of philosophy I've ever come across was written by Benjamin Franklin to the daughter of his deceased brother, John, on the occasion of his death. I quote, in part:

"A man is not completely born until he is dead. Why then should we grieve that a new child is born among the immortals?"

"We are spirits. That bodies should be lent us while they afford us pleasure, assist us in acquiring knowledge or in doing good to our fellow creatures is a kind of benevolent act of God.

"When they become unfit for these purposes, and afford us pain instead of pleasure, instead of an aid become an encumbrance and answer none of these intentions for which they were given, it is equally kind and benevolent that a way is provided by which we get rid of them.

"Death is that way."

Homemaking Legislation Is Discussed At State Meet

RICHMOND, Ky. — "This legislation makes history. It recognizes homemaking — the oldest known occupation," said Bertha G. King, education program specialist for Vocational Home Economics Education in the U. S. Office of Education.

She was telling more than 600 Kentucky home economics teachers attending a conference at Eastern Kentucky University about Public Law 94-482.

Jewell Deene Ellis, director of Home Economics Education in the state Department of Education, said that the conference, held the first week in August was the largest ever. "It gave the teachers a first-hand review of the education amendments of 1976," she noted.

King told the teachers that they must think of redirecting the home economics program as outlined in the 1976 educational amendments. "The sky's the limit to redirect your programs," she said. "The consumer-homemaking program is the only one that does not have age or grade barriers."

King said that among things Public Law 94-482 encourages are male and female participation in consumer and homemaking education, curriculum development, instruction in various languages, outreach programs and parenthood programs.

King noted that in Kentucky 14 per cent of those participating in homemaking education are male, the majority in food services. Public Law 94-482 calls for elimination of sex stereotyping in the curriculum

Miss Jo Ann Stone Married To Mr. Johnson At Church

Miss Jo Ann Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stone, 1431 Maple Avenue, Owensboro, and Mickey Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Johnson of Murray Route Two, were married on Saturday, July 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Owensboro.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Dr. William G. Walker. The special music was by Mrs. Gus Paris, organist, and James L. Haygood, Evansville, Ind., soloist.

Bride's Dress

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white quiana knit featuring a tunic effect and trimmed with Venise lace. Venise lace was also used to trim the short cap sleeves and the high neckline. Her fingertip veil with a close fitting cap was trimmed with matching Venise lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids, fiji mums, and stephanotis interspersed with accents of violets.

Mrs. Susan C. Haygood, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a cornflower blue quiana knit dress with matching chiffon care edged with blue satin ribbon. She carried a nosegay of white silk roses with violets and cornflowers.

The bridesmaids were Robynn S. Greer, Van Wert, Ohio, Kathi N. Redfern, Owensboro, Sharon S. Arnold, Danville, Ill., and Melinda Johnson, Murray, sister of the groom. They wore dresses identical to the matron of honor and carried the same bouquets.

Noelle Haygood, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a long white eyelet dress with blue ribbon beading around the waist.

Dr. Jay D. Rayburn of Lexington was the best man. Groomsman and ushers were Dale Nanny, Jim Myers, Randy Lovett, Lynn Gunter, Pete Lancaster, and Tom Scott, all of Murray. William Darren Haygood, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer. The bride's mother, Mrs. Stone, chose to wear a carnation colored chiffon shirt-waist dress with a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Johnson, mother of the groom, wore a mint green knit formal gown with long sleeves of chiffon with matching floral lace on the front yoke and sleeves.

The grandmother of the bride wore a long ice blue knit dress with matching full length lace coat. The groom's grandmother was attired in a street length knit dress in ice blue with matching lace jacket with white accessories.

Reception

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the Holiday Inn, Owensboro, with about two hundred guests attending.

Serving the guests were Sherry Schell, Karen Keim, and Patricia Schmied.

The couple left after the reception for a wedding trip to Europe and are now residing at Owensboro. Both the bride and groom received their B.S. and Master's degrees from Murray State University.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Johnson of Murray, parents of the groom, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner on July 15 at Gabe's Restaurant, Owensboro, with approximately thirty-five guests attending.

The tables were decorated with white fiji mums, tiny blue cornflowers, and carnations. The groom presented his attendants with gifts after the dinner.

Bridesmaids' Luncheon

On Saturday morning, July 16, Mrs. J.T. Stone, mother of the bride, was hostess for the bridesmaids' luncheon held at The Homestead in Newburgh, Ind., with fifteen guests attending. The bride presented her attendants with gifts.

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

August is the month when everything tries to bloom at once. All the summer flowers are putting on their last fling before the nights become too cool. Chrysanthemums, asters, cannas, marigolds, roses, crabs, myrtle—all are doing their best to show how lovely they are. For in spite of the dry month they are persisting in putting out blossoms.

One little flower that is blooming now is the Torenia. I have had it in the past but haven't planted any for several years. It is also called the Wishbone flower and with its coloring of purple and yellow is an interesting addition to the flower garden.

If you haven't already planted or moved your Day Lilies, there is plenty of time to do it now. They are sturdy plants and will thrive in soil that is not too rich needing only drainage and mulch to keep off the hot sun.

This is the last month to fertilize your roses. After August they need to prepare for the dormant season of winter. Fertilizing later will cause them to sprout and the first frost would be sure to catch them. It is about the last time the chrysanthemums will need fertilizer also, especially if you are raising the plants for specimen blooms.

Pinch off the ends of Verbena plants and you will find they will put on a new spurt of blossoming for another six weeks or so. Pansies can also be pinched back for late fall bloom.

So we find there is always something to do in the garden, no matter what time of the year. The little shower we had brought out more weeds and grass, which means a few hours of work. The rain was not general over the whole area, but where it fell it was so welcome. It meant that I won't have to carry water to some of my beloved plants that would have needed it. I have a few prized shrubs that I have tried to keep in good shape all during the extremely dry weather, so that they will have a good start for winter.

Azaleas need water just at this time as they are setting their buds for spring. But don't drown them. It is so easy to over water and keep the roots too wet. That is my trouble with house plants. I tend to either water them too much or not enough. Knowing the difference is where the experts come in. But it is fun to try.

Bill Fisher Speaker For Women

Bill Fisher, son of the Rev. Dr. James Fisher and Mrs. Fisher, was the featured speaker at the potluck supper held by the First United Methodist Church Women on Tuesday, August 4, at 6:30 p.m. at the social hall of the church. Husbands of the members were special guests.

The speaker who has just graduated from Murray State University and will be entering Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., to study for the ministry spoke on the subject, "The Church As A Family." His scripture was from Hebrews 3:1-6.

Mr. Fisher was introduced by Mrs. Buron Jeffrey.

Mrs. Milton Jones, general president of the UMW, presided at the meeting. The Mattie Bell Hays Circle had the largest number of members present among the fifty persons present for the special occasion.

To Be Married

Miss Sharon Buchanan and Keith Smith

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Sharon Ruth Buchanan and Keith Lynn Smith has been announced by the parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan of Murray Route Six and Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Smith of Kirksey Route One.

Miss Buchanan is the granddaughter of Mrs. Bea Buchanan of Murray. She is a 1976 graduate of Calloway County High School and is now employed by the Murray Division of the Tappan Company.

Mr. Smith is also a 1976 graduate of Calloway County High School and is now employed by the General Tire and Rubber Company, Mayfield. He is the grandson of Mrs. Ruth Hoke of Coldwater.

The wedding will be solemnized on Friday, September 23, at seven p.m. at the Elm Grove Baptist Church with the Rev. Calvin Wilkins officiating at the double ring ceremony. A reception will follow immediately in the fellowship hall of the church.

No formal invitations will be sent; however all friends and relatives are invited to attend both the wedding and the reception.

Sunshine dip

For a delightful finale to dinner, serve an orange flavored dip surrounded by wedges of fresh winter pears and clusters of grapes. For the dip, combine one cup dairy sour cream, one tablespoon orange flavored instant breakfast drink and one tablespoon sugar. Chill for one hour to blend flavors. To prevent pears from darkening, sprinkle with lemon juice.

Glossy Breads

To give yeast breads a rich glossy color, brush with beaten egg about 15 minutes before end of baking time.

Conditioning fresh flowers and greens so they last and last is worth learning about. With a little know-how and patience, even the fragile lilac will look beautiful for almost a week. The secret is water - clear and cool, and a dark, comfortable place for the cut blooms to lap it up for an hour or a day before arranging. Remove lower leaves and cut or crush the stems to allow the flowers to drink as much water as they can. This should be done immediately after cutting. Place in a deep container in the coolest part of your house in a dim light. No more droopy arrangements after a day or two to disappoint you. The conditioning process will prolong the life of your flowers, keep them healthy and their colors glowing.

Our staff at SHIRLEY FLORIST & GARDEN CENTER, 502 North Fourth Street, 753-3251 are very experienced at creating magnificent floral arrangements that will last a long time. We invite you to stop by our display room and to visit with Maxine McEmore, Pauline Jones, Frankie Herndon and Mickey Lents while you browse around at your leisure. Belinda Higgins and Jean McClure are available in our greenhouse to assist you and Clarence Hixon is our expert on landscaping. Hours: Mon-Sat. 8-5.

Observations

By Lochie Hart

Some find bargains plus in sidewalk sales. Reports from the last one showed a big crowd and lots of money spent in spite of the heat. Have attended three functions since Saturday at noon and at these places I have heard about the new dresses, purses, shoes, jewelry, household goods and such purchased at the local sales Friday and Saturday.

But the best purchase was that made by Steve Blau's father in California. Mr. Blau was browsing through the used book section at a sidewalk sale and found a book he wanted. He asked Mrs. Blau to let him have four dollars. She handed him the amount asked for, stating that he wasn't getting a bargain. He made the purchase and when they returned to their car, he opened the book and, tucked inside the pages he found two fifty dollar bills. Surprised, he showed them to his wife and said, "Now, do you think this book was a bargain?"

Steve is visiting granddaughter Debbie until he returns to the University of Missouri where he is a senior and a varsity football player. He will report for practice there two weeks before school opens. Debbie, who has been a student in Stephens, three years, will attend UM this year.

There were too few rails, however, to go around the house.

The rails had been bought from Ella Mae Quertemous' father, Mr. Euen Newton, who lived between the rivers. He had the chestnut logs, approximately one hundred fifty years old, stored and sold them for this special purpose. I examined the finished fence and it looked pretty good. Both ends were kinda run down. Maybe E. B. didn't figure a way to end the job. The rails are old, one can tell by the worm-eaten ridges and holes in the wood. Maybe termites have had a good eating while they were stored, waiting to be laid.

When the Retired Teachers get an old one-room school house, furnished with equipment that many of the retirees remember, that nook in the city park will look like some Kentucky reproductions in Old Kaintuck in Marshall County, or Knott's Berry Farm in California. There are a few old school houses in the county, according to the discussion at the RT meeting. Some interest was expressed as making that the next project. There are a few old desks and wood-burning stoves, still scattered around in the county, that might be obtained to make the project authentic.

LAY RAILS—Members of the Calloway County Retired Teachers Association met on Thursday morning, August 4, and laid the rails around the old court house in the Murray-Calloway County Park. The rails had been purchased from Euen Newton of between the rivers.

At the reception Friday evening honoring Miss Carol Shroat and Mark Graham who are to be married soon, I observed five generations of her mother's family - Mrs. Finis Outland, daughter, Mrs. Jack Gardner and her daughter, Mrs. Carl Shroat. Her daughter, the bride-elect, and Richard Gardner's baby, Jack and his wife, Alma Lee Outland, have five children - all of them beautiful and handsome. Jack was a teacher in the Murray City School when I taught there years ago. He fell in love with one of his students - Alma Lee - and married her. He said between Mrs. Lois Waterfield and me, he had a hard time with his romance. I have had the Outland children in school - nearly all of them. They were lovely students and are making their place in their communities. Carl Shroat, a physician and living in Frankfort, is a former student of Murray. I am especially proud of his achievement, and remember him in school here - how he was an all-round athlete and scholar - Still he had time to give one period per day to help me in the library.

Suzanne Keeslar Directs Studies In Paris, France

Suzanne M. Keeslar has recently returned from Europe after directing the French section of the Kentucky Institute for European Studies.

The eight week summer school program sponsored by Murray State University featured a combination of travel and study in six French cities.

Mrs. Keeslar taught FRE 509 Contemporary French Civilization, FRE 507 Intermediate French Conversation and FRE 506 Directed Study.

Cities serving as classroom centers were Strasbourg, Paris, Caen, Toulouse, Rodez and Nimes, France.

Students attended a ballet performance at the Paris

Opera, toured the Radiodiffusion center, and attended a performance of the Mozart Requiem by a 500 voice boys choir and orchestra at Notre Dame cathedral in Paris. They also spent the day at C. E. S. Les Toulouses, a French middle school at Cergy-Pontoise.

While in Normandy the group traveled to Arromanches to tour the museum of the D-Day landings. While at Toulouse in southern France they visited the walled city of Carcassonne.

Mrs. Keeslar, a faculty member of the Department of Foreign Languages, attended the fiftieth annual national convention of the American Association of Teachers of French in Paris, June 27 to July 1. She was one of three official representatives from the AATF chapter of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The general sessions at the Institut d'Etudes Politiques featured appearances by French governmental and educational personalities, playwright Eugene Ionesco, and actor Jean-Louis Barrault.

Mrs. Keeslar also attended receptions hosted by Jacques Chirac, mayor of Paris, at the Hotel de Ville and by Rene Haby, Minister of French Education, at the Institut Pedagogique at Sevres.

Seven Murray State students accompanied Mrs. Keeslar on the program, including Murrayans, Karen Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, and Martha McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McKinney.

A Carter Recession?

HUTCHINSON, Kans. — The danger of political loss attending President Carter's retreat from campaign promises in the wheat belt is that the broken promises coincide with a wheat belt recession of portentous political dimension.

The President's year-ago pledge to give wheat farmers a level of price supports "at least to equal production costs" might be passed over as standard campaign hyperbole if wheat prices were now firming and farmers contentedly purring.

Instead, a little-noticed survey by the Department of Agriculture shows that in midspring three of six major wheat states — Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma — were in "very severe" financial straits; the other three — Colorado, North Dakota and South Dakota — were in a "severe" financial situation.

This largely-overlooked report makes sinister reading: of 32,000 bank borrowers surveyed in Kansas during April, where almost all loans are linked to the wheat economy, 3,200 "cannot repay" their loans and 11,600, or 35 per cent, are either compelled to refinance their indebtedness or "dispose of their assets."

Consequently, wheat farmers are not purring contentedly. To the contrary, added to the normal political grievance spreading across the lush soils of Kansas is the special fury of a voter scorned that comes from this fact: thousands of wheat families and other rural voters reversed age-old Republican voting habits last November to support Jimmy Carter, apparently on the theory that a peanut farmer was a natural ally of a wheat farmer.

The degree of this crossover, with its potential of a huge voter harvest by Mr. Carter in 1980, has apparently been missed by the White House. Otherwise, the President might not have walked away so quickly from his campaign talk of a $3 price support for wheat (which he set instead at the old $2.25 level).

Likewise, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, who is perceived out here as an amiable White House messenger boy, would probably have fought harder for his farmer constituency against Mr. Carter's strong budget-balancing policies.

The switch of voters from Republican in 1972 to Carter-Mondale last November, as reported in a confidential poll by respected political pollster Robert Teeter, was much heavier among rural than city voters. In Nebraska, a major wheat state, Teeter found the pro-Carter switch in the farm vote running 6 percentage points ahead of the pro-Carter switch in towns and cities.

Even more astonishing was Ohio. Republican farm defections to Mr. Carter in Ohio began worrying party leaders well before the election, but Teeter's 1977 county-by-county analysis shows the depth of that defection: a 19-percentage-point decline in the Republican presidential vote, as contrasted to a mere 9-point decline in the cities of Ohio.

"The surprising loss of Ohio (by Gerald Ford) can be attributed to the unique impact that Carter had in the rural areas," Teeter's unpublished poll reported. "These (voting) changes produced the unusual pattern of a Republican presidential candidate receiving a higher vote from Ohio's metropolitan areas (49 per cent) than from its rural counties (46 per cent). In 1972, Nixon ran 7 points better in the rural than the metropolitan counties of Ohio."

Likewise, Teeter found that in the "contribution ratio" (the share of the total Republican vote) in Wisconsin — a major farm state — rural counties contributed a mere 42.2 per cent. The balance came from metropolitan areas. That elevated Mr. Carter almost 10 points ahead of the 1968 performance in rural Wisconsin of Hubert Humphrey, long a farmer hero.

What this means is that the farm states saw something special in peanut farmer Jimmy Carter. Indeed, Teeter found, that the only offset to the surprising strength of Mr. Carter and his running-mate, Minnesota's Walter Mondale, in 11 farm-belt states was Kansas Sen. Robert Dole. The counties in which Dole campaigned last fall showed a consistent 2-point lag in their swing to Carter-Mondale compared to counties where he did not campaign.

Some farm-belt politicians suspect that Mr. Carter has consciously ignored these pro-Carter sympathies in cutting farmers out of his shrinking pie of federal subsidies. Others blame it on simple White House ignorance of wheat-belt politics. Whichever it is, the swing back to the Republicans in the wheat belt is on in earnest, fueled by the fury of the scorned.

Bullock Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Bullock, an economic statistician whose outspoken criticism of Census Bureau data led to the belated correction last December of a $50 billion understatement in an economic study, has been fired.

Bullock, 30, said he was accused of "coercion to seek advancement" after he found more errors in another Census Bureau study and threatened "to go public" unless permitted to organize an effort to correct the figures.

The dismissal followed two letters of reprimand, one for what he said was alleged to be a "malicious, vicious insult" to a superior, and another for insulting his wife's superior.

Robert Hagan, bureau director, said he was not free to discuss the bureau's action but said the details were spelled out in a letter to the former employee.

Bullock termed the coercion charge a fabrication resulting from his insistence that he be permitted to correct the additional errors, a job that apparently would have required a rating higher than his GS-12.

He said he was asked by Shirley Kallek, his superior, to put his demands in writing, which he did, and that the dismissal followed.

At issue, he said, are figures making up the basic annual economic data base of the bureau, which are released separately for individual states, followed by publication of a national survey.

Included in such studies are figures for the number of businesses of all kinds, the number of jobs and the size of payrolls in all the nation's counties. Bullock claims the figures are biased by 25 to 30 per cent.

The latest accusations by Bullock follow a personal, four-year fight to correct problems in another survey, that for the level of unfilled orders at the nation's factories.

The bureau at first minimized the extent of the unfilled orders miscalculation. Bullock said that instead of adjusting the figures or issuing a caveat, he was threatened with insubordination by Miss Kallek, who devised the methodology.

Following a special study, rushed to completion last December, the bureau conceded the understatement in the level of orders to be, in some years, close to 40 per cent, and to total roughly $50 billion a year.

Asked then — in December 1976 — why a caveat hadn't been issued, in keeping with the published policy of the bureau in regard to questionable statistics, Milton Eisen, chief of the industry division, said "We were slow in accepting anything he (Bullock) said."

Two Old Papers Show How It Was Years Ago

Sue and Charlie Costello sent over a couple of old Murray papers for me to see. One is dated April 15, 1915, more than 62 years ago. The other is dated April 4, 1930, some 47 years ago. They clearly reflect the old adage that time and tide waits for no man.

The 1915 paper, edited by O. J. Jennings, Kerby's father, was a tribute to the religious life of the community. It carried a story about Miss Alice G. Waters, at the time a missionary in Shanghai, China. She was a great-aunt of Sue's.

Another story featured Miss Cora Graves, an aunt of T. Sled's and her work as a missionary in the Kentucky and Tennessee mountains. A circle at the Presbyterian Church is named in her memory.

Pictured with Mr. Jennings and R. R. Melon, the newspaper's foreman, are the ladies who helped put the paper together: Mrs. Jack Beale, Mrs. D. W. Morris, Mrs. C. H. Bradey, Mrs. C. L. Smith, Mrs. R. M. Risenhoover, Mrs. Rainey T. Wells, Mrs. M. T. Morris, Mrs. J. G. Glasgow, Mrs. D. M. Wear, Mrs. George O. Gatlin, Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. J. D. Sexton.

A story inside tells about the proposed Confederate Memorial monument for Murray. It is pictured much the same as it appears today with the exception that the figure of Robert E. Lee replaced that of a common soldier atop the proposed sketch.

The Lynn Grove Farm proclaimed in an ad capital totalling $15,000 and $30,000 out in loans. In Murray, the Farmers & Merchants Bank — Dr. C. O. Gingles, president; Dr. T. J. Henslee, vice-president; C. B. Fulton, cashier, and W. L. Fulton, assistant cashier — listed its "capital and surplus" at $25,000.

Denny P. Smith was running for Commonwealth attorney; Seldon R. Glenn for state senator; T. C. Nix for circuit court clerk; J. T. Hanbery for judge in the 3rd Judicial District, and B. E. Thom of Trigg County for state senator. All had ad seeking votes.

In a full-page ad, State WOW Manager Rainey T. Wells proclaimed that "during the year 1914, the Woodmen Circle paid Kentucky 12 death claims, $6,916.43; erected 15 monuments, $1,500; paid one funeral benefit, $100, and spent $904.44 in field work, totalling $9,421.08."

J. W. Denham at Hazel had just received five carloads of buggies — Delker, Ames and Hardy — and was advertising "any style buggy or surry you may want."

A top story in the 1930 paper, of which Joe T. Lovett was the editor, reported the dedication of the Nathan B. Stubblefield monument on the Murray State campus. Twenty-five hundred people attended the ceremonies, as reported by a young reporter, Forrest C. Pogue, Jr., today one of Murray State's most distinguished graduates.

Showing at the Capitol Theater, which was located along about where Twin Lakes Office Supply is now, was Ken Maynard as the "fighting lover" in "Parade of the West." Bashful Will Rogers and Fifi Dorsay were coming up next in "Give Tootsie, Wootsie a Kiss."

E. J. Beale Motor Co., located where Ward & Elkins is now on the court square, had a big used car sale going, offering a Ford coupe for $125, a 1928 Chevrolet Coach for $365, and 1925 Model T Touring Car for $35, and a "good" Fordson tractor for $250.

John Doyle and Roy Johnson were advertising an auction sale of mules at Gibbs' Barn, and A. B. Beale & Son were advertising a Red Spot painting demonstration. They're still in the same location and Red Spot paints still are on their shelves.

Turner's store, located at the corner of Main and Third streets, had ladies' dresses

Striped Barber Poles

Rapidly Disappearing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The old barber pole ain't what it used to be.

The red and white striped sign, born in the 18th Century, is disappearing almost as quickly as the wooden Indian that stood in majestic splendor outside tobacco shops.

"If you've got one of those poles stored in the attic, I can use it," said Louis Litchfield, a local antique dealer. "They're in great demand by collectors and museums."

Litchfield said the early barbers' trademark was carved from wood and ornately decorated with eagles and other embellishments. "It's an excellent example of American folk art and always brings a good price."

Even more valuable are the signs made from stained glass. On today's market, they bring from $650 to $850.

"I can't find enough of them to keep my customers happy," said Litchfield, adding that he has a stained glass pole hidden away in his shop. "I'm keeping it for myself."

Litchfield could make a quick sale if he contacted Claude Isaacs, who began cutting hair in Owsley County in 1909. Isaacs retired three years ago and would like to have a pole as a memento of his profession.

There weren't any shops when I went to work," said the 86-year-old Ravenna resident.

"The boys would get together on Saturday afternoon at the general store. I'd seat them on a tree stump or a box and start whacking away. For 25 cents, you got a shave and a haircut."

Among those patronizing Isaacs' outdoor establishment was Earle Combs, a star of the New York Yankees. "Earle would always get a trim before a date or before he went out to play baseball."

Isaacs admitted there were times when he'd nick a customer and draw blood. "I'd apologize and explain that this was the way our trade got started."

Barbers originally doubled as surgeons. They advertised by displaying a red and white emblem, with the stripes representing the bandage used to wrap a patient after bloodletting.

"That must have been gruesome," said Isaacs, who has seen many changes in his profession. He's not happy with the trend among hair stylists to avoid the pole and select a sign they consider more sophisticated.

"They're killing off a tradition," he said, "and there's too much of that happening today."

Tom Watson Using New Set Of Clubs In PGA

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Tom Watson was using a different set of clubs today in his quest for a third major tournament title this year—the 59th PGA Championship.

Watson has won five 1977 tournaments, including the Masters and British Open, with a set of clubs declared illegal Wednesday because the grooves in the irons exceeded legal limits in width and spacing. He had voluntarily asked that they be inspected.

Watson and Ray Floyd and Gary Player, who also had several clubs disqualified, were among a handful of players in the field of 141 who had requested a ruling on their clubs by Clyde Mangum, deputy commissioner of the PGA tour, on the eve of the PGA Championship at the drought-stricken Pebble Beach Golf Links.

After the initial publicity, other players brought their bags to Mangum for an inspection and he found that at least five others were carrying clubs that did not meet the specifications. Those players included Tom Weiskopf and Kermit Zarley, with illegal pitching wedges, Hale Irwin with illegal eight and nine-irons and John Lister and Floyd Thomson, each with several illegal clubs.

Mangum said the interest of the players was generated as a result of George Burns being disqualified after the second round a week ago at Hartford, Conn., after he had requested an official inspection of new clubs he was using. They were found to exceed the legal limits.

Mangum said the rules permit grooves to be no wider than 35-1,000ths of an inch across the entire groove and to be no closer together than three times the width.

"It's the nature of the sport that the players police themselves," said Mangum, who also noted that Watson had a similar set of clubs ruled illegal a year ago in Houston after requesting an inspection. Officially said Watson's previous victories would not be affected by the ruling.

Watson is using the same clubs with which he won the 1975 British Open, ones which have lighter shafts than the irons declared illegal.

His main regret is that the sand wedge in the set he has been using for the last 14 months also was considered to have grooves too deep.

"I can always get a set of irons," he said. "But the sand wedge I'm using is not mine to keep. I borrowed one from Leonard Thompson."

Watson said he didn't think the lighter shafts would affect his play.

"It will be a little different feel," he said. "I hope that I can adjust to it. I'm swinging well. When you're playing well, you can play with a broomstick."

Watson, who earlier this year won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, is a co-favorite along with Jack Nicklaus, a five-time winner on this course over the years, in the tournament which is being played over the 6,806-yard, par-72 course.

SOCCER
NEW YORK — Ron Newman, whose Fort Lauderdale Strikers tied the North American Soccer League record for most victories in a season, was named NASL Coach of the Year by the league's general managers and coaches.

The Strikers were 19-7 and won the Eastern Division title.

If a vote were taken among area golfers, the odds are the Murray Shrine Club Invitational would win the race for the most popular golf tournament of the summer.

First of all, the tourney proceeds go to the Crippled Children's Hospital Fund and that's one of the major reasons the tourney is so popular. Then the tourney is also one of a relaxed atmosphere, where else are there clowns running out from behind trees on a golf course?

Perhaps the only negative thing about the tourney in its previous eight years has been sandbagging, where a golfer intentionally shoots a high score the first day in order to get put in a lower flight then on the second day, he vastly improves his score in order to finish in the running for prizes.

But Saturday and Sunday when a field of 232 golfers gather at the Murray Country Club for the ninth annual Shrine Club Invitational, there will be no sandbagging.

For this year's tourney, a 10 per cent rule has been put in effect. Any golfer whose second day score is 10 per cent or more better than his first day score will automatically be raised into a higher flight. For instance, a golfer could shoot a 90 on Saturday and be allowed to drop to an 81 Sunday without being raised into another flight.

Of course the most obvious change is the size of the tourney. In past years, over 300 golfers have been in the tourney which has been played on both local golf courses. But this year, the tourney will be held only at the Murray Country Club.

Even with the smaller field, the same amount of money will be raised so the obvious advantage is that a lot of time and work are saved.

There are a couple of other minor changes golfers should note: Players who tee off on number one Saturday will start at 10 on Sunday and vice versa. Also, slow players will be penalized two strokes. Slow play constitutes one or more holes opening between two foursomes.

The four low players from Saturday's round will leave at 1:02 p.m. Sunday from the first tee.

From 1970 until last year, there was a Shrine and a Guest Division in the tourney but last year, there was only one division and Dwaine Lowry Junior of Paducah took the title.

Lowry matched par both days for a 144 total to win by one stroke over Tom Rodgers of Madisonville. Bobby Fike of Murray finished in third with a 148 total.

Lowry will not be back to defend his title this weekend. However, Rodgers will be on hand as will four-time winner Dick Brown of Paducah and two-time winner Rex Fraley of Clarksville.

Brown won the opening tourney in 1969 and was not dethroned until Fraley won in 1973. Fraley did not return in 1974 and the ever-popular Pat Nanney of Sharon, Tenn., took the championship that summer.

In 1975, Fraley again returned and won the championship for the second time. Fraley did not play last year when Lowry and Rodgers staged their two-man battle for the crown.

Fraley, a long driver and an outstanding all-around golfer, holds the tourney record. When he won the Shrine Flight in 1973, he fired a 141.

There will be eight flights in the tournament this weekend and eight places will be awarded in each flight.

In addition, a new car will be given to the first golfer who makes a hole-in-one on the par-three, seventh hole at the Shrine Tournament.

Besides Fraley and Murray Country Club, Murray Rodgers, other golfers expected to contend for the title every year of the tourney but include Fike, Brown, Jerry Caldwell, Buddy Hewitt and Eddie Bryan.

'Big Cat' Williams Top Long Driver In Nation

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The "Golden Bear" may be the undisputed king of tournament golf, but the envy of every duffer who tees the ball up with his weekend foursome is a man called "Big Cat."

Jack Nicklaus wins championships, Evan "Big Cat" Williams simply knocks the ball out of sight. He is the recognized Babe Ruth of the fairway set, winner for the second straight year of the PGA long-driving contest.

"I just relax, delay my hand release, give it some strong leg action and wham!—let 'er rip," says the towering, 29-year-old slugger from Leonia, N.J.

Even such fabled hitters as Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Jim Dent look with awe—and a certain amount of concealed jealousy—when Big Cat throws his 6-foot-6, 205-pound frame into a tee shot and watches the ball fly more than 300 yards.

Ordinary mortals recognize that stringing up 63 tour victories and 16 major titles, as Nicklaus has done, defies their imagination. But anyone can walk up to a tee, and with one free swing and some luck, knock the cover off the ball. It warms the soul.

"I've been hitting the ball a long way since I was 18, but it wasn't until three years ago that I discovered that I might make a career out of long driving," Williams said.

"There was this exhibition driving contest at Grossinger's up in the Catskills (in New York). I heard that Jim Dent was in it. He's recognized as the longest driver on the pro tour. And also Jack DePaolo of Valhalla, N. Y., who some swear is the longest hitter in the world.

"I beat them both. I drove the ball 368 yards on the carry. The fairway was wet. The ball spun back five yards; so I got credit for 363 yards.

"Since then I've entered contests and been in demand for exhibitions. Winning the driving championship in the last two PGA tournaments hasn't hurt my reputation any."

Big Cat's winning shot Tuesday soared 353 yards, 24 inches, counting the roll over the baked fairway—46 yards farther than his first prize effort at Congressional in Washington, D.C., last year.

Golf Digest Magazine, which promotes the contest and keeps a record of such things, says the longest drive on record was made by an Englishman—E.C. Bliss—in 1913. Hitting from a 57-foot elevated tee in Kent, England, Bliss propelled the ball 445 yards.

Night Of Marathons In NL, Cards Edge Mets

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

"Marathon Man" was playing in the National League.

The baseball game, not the movie.

There was plenty of extra-curricular activity in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and San Diego Wednesday night, resulting in the following overtime for ballplayers and fans:

—In Philadelphia, the Phillies and Montreal Expos played for nearly 10 hours before completing a rain-drenched, twilight doubleheader that ended with 6-1, 2-1 sweep for the home team.

—In Pittsburgh, the Pirates struggled for nearly five hours before subduing the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in 18 innings.

—And in San Diego, the Padres swept the Atlanta Braves, but not before playing an 11-inning game in the nightcap. The scores were 8-6 and 2-1 and the time was nearly six hours.

"It was the longest rain delay I ever sat through," said Larry Christenson of the Phillies, who pitched a two-hitter in the opener. "I didn't think we'd ever start again."

There were two rain delays in the opener—at the start, when the game was held up by an hour and three minutes, and in the third inning, when the contest was halted for two hours and 27 minutes.

Christenson didn't know it, but umpire John Kibler was three minutes away from calling the game. Kibler had told the Phillies' vice president, Bill Giles, "I'll give it five minutes more and if it doesn't stop, I'll call the game." Two minutes later, the rain stopped.

The doubleheader took nine hours and 48 minutes to play, winding up at 3:30 a.m., EDT. In Pittsburgh, only one game was scheduled, but the teams eventually managed to play a doubleheader, anyway.

Ed Ott, who spent 4½ hours hours watching from the bullpen, finally ended it with a pinch-hit sacrifice fly in the 18th inning.

"We had to finish it sometime, didn't we?" Ott said. "I was out there in the bullpen for 17 innings, and we had a lot of fun. A lot of fans were hollering, 'I've got to get up at 5 o'clock. Please finish it.'"

The Phillies bunched five singles in a four-run, fourth-inning rally that wiped out a 1-0 Expos lead in the opener. With one out, Garry Maddox, Tim McCarver and Ted Sizemore singled for one run. Christenson faked a bunt and punched a single for a second, another came across on an infield out, and Larry Bowa singled in the fourth.

Bake McBride's two-run homer in the sixth provided the Phillies with their final runs of the opener.

Greg Luzinski socked a pair of two-run homers to help the Phillies take the nightcap. The doubleheader sweep made it seven straight victories for the red-hot Phillies, who now lead the National League East by 2½ games over the Chicago Cubs, and are 3½ ahead of third-place Pittsburgh.

Pirates 2, Cubs 1

Ott's winning fly ball for Pittsburgh came off relief pitcher Pete Broberg, 1-1, and scored Phil Garner.

Garner walked with one out and took third on a single by Dave Parker before Bill Robinson was walked intentionally to load the bases. The winning run was scored well ahead of the throw to the plate by Jerry Morales, who caught Ott's fly in medium center.

The victory went to Larry Demery, 4-3, who came on to open the 18th inning.

Broberg entered the game in the 17th inning after Willie Hernandez and Paul Reuschel had combined for 11 innings of scoreless relief. Prior to Demery, Pirate relievers Grant Jackson, Kent Tekulve and Rich Gossage had checked the Cubs for nine innings.

The game lasted four hours and 56 minutes and 36 players were used.

Ott also beat the Cubs Monday night 7-6 with a ninth-inning triple.

Padres 8-2, Braves 6-1

Rookie Mike Champion and Dave Winfield combined to drive in five runs and help Randy Jones win his first game since May 19 as San Diego beat Atlanta in the first game of their doubleheader.

Jones, last year's National League Cy Young Award winner, continued his comeback bid from arm problems by working 52-3 innings and allowing three runs on six hits before departing with a 4-3 lead.

Gene Tenace's bases-loaded walk in the bottom of the 11th gave the Padres their victory in the second game.

Dodgers 1, Reds 0

Rick Rhoden allowed only two hits—both by Dave Concepcion—and Los Angeles scored an unearned run in the third inning to defeat Cincinnati. The victory raised the Dodgers' lead in the National League West to 12½ games over the Reds.

"There were some brilliant plays behind me," said Rhoden, crediting the Dodger defense as much as his pitching for the shutout. "I've gone into the eighth inning four or five times with shutouts this year and let them get away. This one was very satisfying."

Cardinals 3, Mets 1

Roger Freed's two-run homer in the second inning and the combined five-hit pitching of Tom Underwood and Butch Metzger carried St. Louis over New York. The seldom-used Freed hit his homer off Craig Swan, 7-7, after Ted Simmons had opened the inning with an infield hit.

Astros 8, Giants 6

Cesar Cedeno singled, doubled and blasted a two-run homer to power Houston over San Francisco. Cedeno's first-inning double led to a run in the first inning, he lashed a two-run homer in the fifth and his single in the ninth helped the Astros score their final run.

Willie McCovey had his 20th homer of the season for the Giants, a two-run blast in the fifth off winner J.R. Richard.

Bosox Outslug Angels For 11th Straight Win

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer

Mix together two of baseball's best pitchers in Boston's Fenway Park and most of the time Fenway Park will emerge as the winner.

"When the wind is blowing out like tonight, you see some crazy things happen here," Boston Manager Don Zimmer said Wednesday night.

The only thing which didn't seem out of the ordinary in the Red Sox' 11-10 victory over the California Angels was Boston's victory. It was the Red Sox' 11th straight win, the longest in the American League this season, and extended Boston's longest winning streak since 1950.

The game, which had been billed as a pitching duel between California southpaw Frank Tanana and Boston ace Louis Tiant, was anything but that.

Both pitchers had entered the game without surrendering a run in their last 16 innings of work, but both were hit hard. Tanana gave up five runs in as many innings, while Tiant was battered for six runs on 10 hits in five innings plus.

In other American League action, Cleveland defeated Chicago 6-1, Detroit beat Milwaukee 5-3, Kansas City nipped Texas 4-3, Baltimore edged Seattle 5-4, New York whipped Oakland 6-3.

Indians 6, White Sox 1

Wayne Garland fired a five hitter for his fifth consecutive complete game as Cleveland defeated Chicago to snap a six-game losing streak.

Garland, who struck out two and walked three, continually forced the White Sox to hit the ball on the ground. First baseman Andre Thornton recorded 16 putouts, while the Indians' outfield handled only four fly balls.

Cleveland scored its runs in the first five innings, as Thornton, Bill Melton, Paul Dade, and Fred Kendall delivered run-scoring hits.

Tigers 5, Brewers 3

Jack Morris recorded his first major league victory and Ron LeFlore and rookie Steve Kemp combined to drive in five runs as Detroit defeated Milwaukee for the third time in four days.

Morris, making his fourth appearance and third start, gave up 10 hits and three runs in 7-2 innings before being relieved by Steve Foucault, who gained his eighth save.

Von Joshua went 5-for-5 with two singles, a pair of doubles, and his sixth homer of the season, while scoring twice for the Brewers.

Royals 4, Rangers 3

Frank White's two-out two-run single off shortstop Bert Campaneris' glove in the fourth inning produced the go-ahead runs as Kansas City won for the sixth time in its last eight games.

Dennis Leonard, 12-9, picked up his third consecutive victory with relief help from Larry Gura, who earned his eighth save.

Texas starter Gaylord Perry struck out 13 as the Rangers had a three-game winning streak snapped.

Orioles 5, Mariners 3

Ken Singleton smacked a three-run homer and Elliot Maddox blasted his first home run of the season with one runner aboard as Baltimore won its third straight game to remain in second-place 2½ games behind Boston in the American League East.

Lee Stanton and Carlos Lopez homered for Seattle in a game which was delayed one hour and 40 minutes at the start and for another 19 minutes in the eighth inning.

Yankees 6, A's 3

Cliff Johnson's two-run double keyed a five-run first inning as New York handed Oakland pitching ace Vida Blue the earliest knockout of his career and sent the A's to their 12th consecutive loss.

Graig Nettles walloped his 26th homer of the season in the second inning in support of Ron Guidry's ninth victory in 15 decisions.

Blue lasted just one-third of an inning.

Racers Picked Fourth In Pre-Season League Poll

Murray State's Racers, though picked to finish only fourth in the league, had five players named to the All-OVC pre-season team at the Ohio Valley Conference Football Press Day in Nashville Wednesday.

Picked for the All-Conference team were defensive back Eddie McFarland, defensive tackle Bruce Martin, punter Wes Furgerson, tight end David Thomas and kicking specialist Hank Lagorce.

To the surprise of nobody, Eastern Kentucky was voted as the team to beat in the league race. Tennessee Tech was nabbed for second.

The only real surprise was Western Kentucky being picked for third place over Murray. Rounding out the selections were Middle Tennessee fifth, East Tennessee sixth, Morehead seventh and Austin Peay eighth.

All eight of the head coaches in the league were on hand and discussed their program.

Racers To Be Welcomed Back To Town Saturday

Some 100 football players will report for fall practice at Murray State University this weekend.

The Racer squad will be welcomed by the Murray Big M Club at a barbecue at Stewart Stadium Saturday night. Players will take physical examinations and check out equipment Sunday. Two-a-day practice sessions will begin Monday. The first session will begin at 9 a.m., the second at 3 p.m.

After three days of practice in shorts, the squad will begin work in pads Thursday. The first major scrimmage will be Saturday.

The Racers will open their 11-game schedule Sept. 3 at Southeast Missouri. Their first home game will be Sept. 24 against Tennessee Tech.

Thirty-three lettermen will be back from last year's team which finished third in the Ohio Valley Conference. Coach Bill Furgerson says that if his team continues to improve on a good spring practice it could make a strong challenge for the Ohio Valley Conference championship.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

Real estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real estate loan. Right here. Right now.

So the equity in your house is like money in your pocket.

Call us. We've got your loan.

Large loans for homeowners.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Controversial issues could cause contention, endless word-wasting. Don't join in. Rather, listen to all sides and you will arrive at the truth.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Study requirements; discriminate carefully between what's necessary and what's not important in your schedule. There may not be time for all, but be sure to tend to essentials fully.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A swinging day if you're in the mood. But care! Too much "individuality" could get out of hand, too much imagination lead to freakishness. Avoid the bizarre.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Be solicitous of fellowmen but not to the point of being "taken in." There are some who would prey on anyone who will listen.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Accelerate the tempo of your activities but avoid the unthinking haste that makes the proverbial waste. You may have to make some concessions but they will pay in the long run.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

As with Gemini, you may have tendencies toward the unconventional. Watch out for those who are highly erratic, who'll try anything just to be "different."

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be prepared for changes, perhaps some confusion. You may take an unexpected trip, have surprise visitors or receive an unusual invitation.

At any rate, variety should make the weekend stimulating.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mars influences now encourage well-organized moves, but you will need a great deal of resourcefulness to cover all the angles. Evening hours promise stimulating social activities.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A conflict between business and personal affairs may bring on some tension. You can counter by isolating the essential and getting it out of the way.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Take stock of your resources and give thought to new moves now — even if you do nothing about them until next week.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

This should be a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities promise to be most enlivening. Romance also favored.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Personal relationships somewhat unsettling. Don't become involved in the affairs of others. Results could be unfortunate.

Let's Stay Well

Compulsive Gambling

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q: Mrs. W.M. writes that for years her husband has had the bad habit of gambling. He has squandered the family savings and has created one financial crisis after another. She says that he appears to be coming to his senses about such bouts of wasting their resources, and she asks if any medicine or other form of treatment may help him.

A: Compulsive gambling can wreck the life of the person involved and damage family members and friends. As you mention, your husband has been wasting resources for years.

The fact that he has improved is somewhat encouraging, but unfortunately he may fall from grace and indulge in another episode at any time.

No medicine is available that will benefit the compulsive gambler or spender.

Compulsive buying, often seen in persons who spend large sums beyond their means on clothes, jewelry, or something they feel compelled to possess, is a similar compulsive syndrome.

Such behavior is a form of self-punishment. Gambling and compulsive purchasing appear not to satisfy. They are carried forward to the point of loss — either loss of money in gambling or loss of credibility in overspending. Carrying out the behavior brings some sense of thrill, but the loss results in a diseased form of satisfaction.

Such compulsions may lead the victim to beg, borrow or even steal from family, friends or employers.

Compulsive gambling may often begin in adolescence. It may be more difficult to detect than alcoholism and should be regarded as a serious personality defect.

Individual and group counseling may help by giving the victim some insight. Such support has to be given over an extended period of time, and many who need help often will not persist in obtaining it. Gambler's Anonymous (with a membership of about 5,000) is a national organization designed to provide ongoing assistance similar to that of Alcoholics Anonymous for alcohol-

The Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan places the number of compulsive gamblers in the United States at 1.1 million, but other authorities say the figure is five or six times greater.

Compulsive gambling is a major, damaging problem. The medical profession has only a little to offer in treatment. More research is needed.

CPAs Offer Ways To Minimize Capital Gains Tax On Home Sale

So your children are grown and you plan to sell your home and move into smaller quarters, but that house you bought for $10,000 thirty years ago is now worth $60,000. What do you do about the $50,000 capital gain you'll realize if you sell?

The Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants has a number of suggestions.

First of all, they say, are you sure your cost basis is only $10,000? You can add to what you paid for the house all expenses incurred in acquiring it, including legal fees, title search and title insurance cost, brokers' commissions, survey and appraisal fees.

Also, go back through your records and see if you can't find evidence of capital improvements you have made, which would increase the basis and thus reduce the capital gain. A capital improvement is any permanent change that increases the value of the property. It includes not only such things as added rooms, dormers, central air conditioning and the closing in of a porch, but also new walks, driveways, storm windows, insulation and landscaping.

If you don't have receipts or canceled checks to substantiate improvements made years ago, perhaps the records can be reconstructed with old photographs or the testimony of neighbors. Improvements made with your own labor can't be added to the cost basis, except for what you paid for materials.

In addition to raising the basis, don't overlook anything that will bring down the adjusted sales price. This would include not only fees paid to brokers and lawyers but also the cost of advertising the house and any "fix-up" costs incurred during the 90 days preceding the signing of the sales contract.

A second suggestion from the CPAs is to delay the sale of the house until after reaching age 65, for then the profit on the first $35,000 of the adjusted sales price is exempt from capital gain tax. Only one member of the couple has to be 65 for both to qualify for this exemption.

Also, the CPA society advises, if in selecting smaller quarters you have a choice between renting and buying, it might be wiser to buy, since that way at least part of the tax on your capital gain is deferred. (Until recently it was possible in some cases to avoid the capital gain tax on appreciated value by leaving the home to one's heirs, but the 1976 Tax Reform Act ended that provision.)

To defer a capital gain tax on a home sale by reinvesting, the replacement home must be purchased within a specified interval, so careful timing of the sale and acquisition of the replacement is essential.

You might also want to make the sale fall during a year in which you realize capital losses, so these can be used to offset part of the gain. In other words, if you have been holding stocks or other assets that have fallen in value, the year in which you sell your house might be the time to get rid of them.

Another possible way to reduce the capital gain tax is to make the sale of the house an installment sale, since tax is due only on the gain made during each tax year. The tax on $10,000 a year for the next five years is less than the tax on $50,000 in one year. And if the installment sale delays realization of the gain until after retirement, when your income and tax brackets are lower, so much the better.

To qualify as an installment sale for tax purposes, the CPAs warn, no more than 30 percent of the price may be paid during the first year.

If, after following one or more of these suggestions, you still end up with a bundle of taxable income, the CPAs offer still another way to hold down the tax: income averaging. If you are eligible, this lets you spread the income over five years, which reduces the tax rate.

And if you are still unhappy with your tax prospects, CPAs have this final suggestion: many retired couples, instead of selling the old homestead, convert it into an investment by renting it to others, which makes maintenance expenses and depreciation tax deductible. Unlike salary or wages, rental income does not diminish Social Security benefits.

UNDERSTANDING

a health column from the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Women Who Drink Heavily May Bear Defective Babies

Recent research reports indicate that heavy use of alcohol by women during pregnancy may result in a pattern of abnormalities in the offspring, termed the Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, which consists of specific congenital and behavioral abnormalities. . . . Both the risk and the extent of abnormalities appear to be dose-related, increasing with higher alcohol intake during the pregnancy period.

Given the total evidence available at this time, pregnant women should be particularly conscious of the extent of their drinking.

This warning that women who drink heavily risk giving birth to deformed or retarded children was issued recently by Dr. Ernest Noble, Director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. It has its origin in suspicion and concern that were first expressed by scientists in the early 1970s and that reached a height this year.

At one medical center, babies with the Fetal Alcohol Syndrome tended to be stunted in both growth and development, with heads that were small even for their undersized bodies. Their facial features showed a consistent pattern of deformities. Tested on learning tasks, the infants performed at a notably lower level than other infants. The babies had only one thing in common: alcoholic mothers.

At another hospital, children of mothers who drank heavily were found to have two to three times more congenital malformations, growth disturbances, or functional abnormalities than did the children of mothers who drank rarely or moderately. Furthermore, heavy-drinking mothers who either cut out or cut down on alcohol during their pregnancies had healthier babies than those who did not.

At this time, said Dr. Noble, it appears that women who drink as much as six cans of beer, glasses of wine, or mixed drinks a day during pregnancy may have babies with all the symptoms of the Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, while those who take more than two drinks but less than six may bear children with one or more symptoms. Because "safe levels of drinking are unknown," says the NIAAA statement, "pregnant women and those likely to become pregnant should discuss their drinking habits and the potential dangers with their physicians."

Mobility And Architectural Barriers Are Common To Many

More than 500,000 Kentuckians share two common problems, mobility and architectural barriers, according to Gerald Williams, regional director, Bureau of Rehabilitation Services, Lexington.

"This number includes 210,000 individuals between the ages of 16 and 64 with severe handicaps, and more than 300,000 over the age of 65 who have mobility problems because of the aging process," Williams said.

Williams is one of the more than 9,000 Kentuckians who live and work in a wheelchair. Twenty years ago, Williams had a diving accident which resulted in the paralysis of his lower limbs and the partial paralysis of his upper extremities. After obtaining a Master's Degree in vocational rehabilitation at the University of Kentucky, Williams started working in rehabilitation services in 1964.

Because of the size of his electric-type wheelchair, Williams drives a van equipped with a lift. "The handicapped individual has no public transportation and must buy a larger car to accommodate his wheelchair," said Williams.

Last month, Williams attended the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals in Washington, D.C., and studied architectural and transportation barriers.

"In the future all modes of public transportation will be designed to accommodate all the population and greater public awareness of the needs of handicapped persons."

Williams serves on the mayor's committee for the elimination of architectural barriers in Lexington. "The ultimate goal of the committee is to insure the right of all citizens the free use of all public facilities, streets, sidewalks, and other public places," Williams explained. "We also encourage the participation of the physically handicapped in all places of public accommodations, housing, recreation and employment through barrier-free design."

What is barrier-free design? "Basically, it is the design for construction that will allow handicapped individuals to have total accessibility," Williams said. "Accessibility begins in the parking lot. There should be a level, uninterrupted surface between the lot and building."

Some of the basic specifications include doors with a minimum 32-inch clearance, elevators with room to turn around in a wheelchair, water fountains no higher than 34 inches, telephones within vertical reach of a person sitting and restrooms with stall openings not less than 32 inches wide and doors that swing out.

"Barrier-free design does not cost any more and actually results in the decrease of accident insurance rates," said Williams. "In addition, the wide doors and ramps permit evacuation in case of fire."

The standards recommended for aiding the handicapped also meet the highest fire prevention standards, according to Marshall Swain, assistant superintendent, Bureau of Rehabilitation Services, Frankfort.

For a complete set of the specifications for making buildings and facilities accessible to, and usable by, the physically handicapped, contact Williams at (606) 252-0851 or Swain at (502) 564-4440.

In some places along the coasts of the United States, the ground water table has been so depleted that sea water has seeped in and left wells useless for drinking or irrigation.

'Son of Sam' ... (Continued From Page One)

Police said previously that the same .44-caliber gun had been used in all eight attacks by the Son of Sam. Five women and one man died, three men and four women were wounded.

The latest shooting was the only one in Brooklyn. The seven previous shootings were in Queens and the Bronx. Any charges related to those crimes would have to come from authorities in those two New York boroughs.

One of the detectives who arrested Berkowitz, John Longo, said, "We were just lucky we were there. We got the right assignment."

Police were led to Berkowitz by a ticket written for parking too near a fire hydrant. The ticket was issued the night Miss Moskowitz and Violante were shot, in the neighborhood of the shooting.

Police said they found a note addressed to them in Berkowitz' car. The contents of the note, printed in the same style used in earlier notes to the police and newspaper columnist Jimmy Breslin, were chilling:

"Because Craig is Craig
"So must the streets
"Be filled with Craig
(death)
"And huge drops of lead
"Poured down upon her head
"Until she was dead.

"Yet, the cats still come out at night to mate
"And the sparrows still sing in the morning."

Police said Craig was a deputy sheriff in Westchester County, where Yonkers is located. They said he lived in the apartment below Berkowitz.

There were conflicting reports as to the origin of the name "Son of Sam."

Police said Berkowitz, whose mother is dead and whose father, Nat, reportedly lives in Miami, told them Son of Sam was a 6,000-year-old voice which had spoken to him over the years. They said he told them he communicated with Sam through a dog.

The ticket was issued to Berkowitz' car near Shore Road along the Brooklyn waterfront, where it was illegally parked, police said.

The connection between the ticket and the shootings of Miss Moskowitz and Violante came from a middle-aged woman walking her dog, police said. She apparently came face to face with the killer.

Police, who refuse to identify the witness, said the woman told them she saw officers ticket the car.

Moments later, a young man "came right up to her, five feet away, and looked right in her face, saw that she was middle-aged, and turned and walked away. He carried a dark object in his right hand," said one detective. The frightened woman ran home. "She was standing on her stoop unleashing her dog when she heard the shots and the squeal of a horn," said the detective.

The woman, afraid Son of Sam might stalk her, waited four days before contacting police. She told them about the traffic ticket, and police searched through all tickets issued in the early hours of July 31. It led them to Berkowitz.

"The car is the key," a police spokesman said.

Three Items Needed For New Room

Three more items are needed, then the new Victorian Room in the History Museum located at the Old Capitol Annex will be ready to open. Kentuckians can help the Kentucky Historical Society in this project if they have a needlework fireplace screen, a rococo piano stool or a small whatnot to contribute.

"The whatnot is needed for one corner of the room to be used to display the china and glassware of the period," said Elizabeth Perkins, curator of exhibits.

Perkins has been researching the Victorian period for the past year and can document each item to be used, as well as the color theme. Although the project has been a total staff effort, Elizabeth has done the planning, the purchasing and has supervised the work.

"We want to continue adding to the Victorian collection and we will be changing the art, furnishings and costumes from time to time," explained Perkins. "The room will be changed to reflect the different seasons and to capture the many moods of the Victorian era."

The Victorian Room fits into an overall pattern, developed by Perkins, for redoing all the exhibits on the first floor of the Old Capitol Annex. "The primary purpose of the plan is to eventually change the exhibits to blend in better with the Italianate architecture of the building," she explained.

The Victorian Room is scheduled to open Aug. 27. Kentuckians who would like to make a contribution to the Kentucky Historical Society's Victorian period collection, may contact Elizabeth Perkins or General William Buster, the society's executive director, (502) 564-3016.

Discovery Of New Drug Is Comparable To Penicillin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Development of the first drug capable of treating virus-caused diseases is a "major advance," comparable to the discovery of penicillin nearly 50 years ago, health officials say.

Scientists with the National Institutes of Health announced Wednesday a new experimental drug, adenine arabinoside, has been used successfully to treat a rare virus-caused brain disease.

Manufactured by the Parke-Davis pharmaceutical company of Detroit, the unpatented drug, also known as ara-A, was administered to 28 hospital patients suffering from herpes encephalitis, a disease that destroys brain cells.

Dr. Charles A. Alfred Jr. of the University of Alabama, who coordinated the NIH-sponsored tests at 15 medical centers, said they showed that ara-A reduced herpes encephalitis mortality from 70 per cent to 28 per cent.

The virus that causes the disease is a member of the same herpes family that causes chickenpox, shingles, fever blisters and the venereal disease, genital herpes.

The many infectious diseases that attack humans are caused mainly by two kinds of germs: bacteria and viruses. The discovery of penicillin in 1928 led to the development of antibiotics that have been used successfully to treat most bacteria related diseases.

But viruses have remained resistant to these and other drugs. Until the development of ara-A doctors have been able to treat only the symptoms of viral diseases, not the diseases themselves, and had to hope the body would successfully resist the virus on its own.

If ara-A can be used successfully in the treatment of herpes encephalitis, there is reason to believe it can fight off numerous other virus-caused diseases, such as the common cold and influenza, scientists said.

Herpes encephalitis, which is difficult to diagnose, is believed to strike thousands of Americans each year, with only one in 10 victims making a full recovery. Most survivors suffer serious brain damage, and many remain incapacitated for life.

"This is exciting news," said Dr. Richard Krause of the NIH's National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases of the new test results.

"It is the first successful treatment of a serious and life threatening virus disease. It opens up an avenue to a new form of therapy for this class of infections."

Alfred said the drug also has been used successfully in controlled tests to fight chickenpox and shingles in cancer patients and is being used by physicians in treating runaway herpes infections in cancer and transplant patients whose normal resistance to disease has been weakened by drug therapy.

But he cautioned that it is too early to predict successful use of ara-A against herpes diseases or other viral infections on which it has not yet been tested.

At present, ara-A is effective against serious diseases only when administered intravenously and must be given in a hospital.
